

CAUCE

Canadian Association for University Continuing Education

c/o Centre for Continuing & Distance Education
464 Williams Building, 221 Cumberland Avenue North
Saskatoon SK S7N 1M3
Phone: 306-966-5604 Fax: 306-966-5590
Email: CAUCE.Secretariat@usask.ca
www.cauce-aepuc.ca

June 13, 2013

Dr. Michael DeGagné
President and Vice-Chancellor
Nipissing University
100 College Drive, P.O. Box 5002
North Bay, ON P1B 8L7

Dear Dr. DeGagné:

RE: Institution Receives National Recognition in Continuing Education via CAUCE Award

As the President of the Canadian Association for University Continuing Education (CAUCE) I am pleased to enclose a copy of the Awards Program from our 60th Annual Conference, Distinct Savoir-Faire | UCE 6.0, held May 22nd to May 25th in Montreal, Quebec. The conference, hosted by McGill University, was very successful and was attended by over 190 individuals working within university continuing education from across Canada.

The mission of CAUCE is to enlarge the scope and quality of educational opportunities for adults at the university level by enhancing the stature and expertise of institutions and individuals devoted to providing those opportunities. Consequently, one service we provide is an annual awards program that recognizes quality in the following four categories: Marketing, Programs, Journal and Research.

I am delighted to advise you that the Program award submission: RPN to BscN Blended Learning Program, submitted by Wenda Caswell, Program Manager, School of Nursing and Lorraine Carter, Director, Centre for Flexible Teaching and Learning at your university was declared winner in the Credit Programming Over 48 Hours category. The award was accepted at a luncheon ceremony at the conference and the staff was congratulated for their contribution to quality in lifelong learning.

Please accept my personal congratulations for the excellent work done by your continuing education professionals this year.

CAUCE looks forward to continuing its commitment to serve practitioners in university continuing education to support quality-learning opportunities for adults pursuing personal and professional educational goals.

Sincerely,

Robert Wensveen,
Associate Director, Continuing Education
University of Calgary
CAUCE President 2013-2014

cc: Lorraine Carter, Director, Centre for Flexible Teaching and Learning

CAUCE

Canadian Association for University Continuing Education

c/o Centre for Continuing & Distance Education
464 Williams Building, 221 Cumberland Avenue North
Saskatoon SK S7N 1M3
Phone: 306-966-5604 Fax: 306-966-5590
Email: CAUCE.Secretariat@usask.ca
www.cauce-aepuc.ca

June 13, 2013

Dr. Michael DeGagné
President and Vice-Chancellor
Nipissing University
100 College Drive, P.O. Box 5002
North Bay, ON P1B 8L7

Dear Dr. DeGagné:

RE: Institution Receives National Recognition in Continuing Education via CAUCE Award

As the President of the Canadian Association for University Continuing Education (CAUCE) I am pleased to enclose a copy of the Awards Program from our 60th Annual Conference, Distinct Savoir-Faire | UCE 6.0, held May 22nd to May 25th in Montreal, Quebec. The conference, hosted by McGill University, was very successful and was attended by over 190 individuals working within university continuing education from across Canada.

The mission of CAUCE is to enlarge the scope and quality of educational opportunities for adults at the university level by enhancing the stature and expertise of institutions and individuals devoted to providing those opportunities. Consequently, one service we provide is an annual awards program that recognizes quality in the following four categories: Marketing, Programs, Journal and Research.

I am delighted to advise you that Lorraine Carter, Director, Centre for Flexible Teaching and Learning at your university was awarded the Distinguished Researcher Award. The award was accepted at the awards banquet at the conference and Dr. Carter was congratulated for her long-term, sustained contribution to university continuing education research in Canada.

Please accept my personal congratulations for the excellent work done by your continuing education professionals this year.

CAUCE looks forward to continuing its commitment to serve practitioners in university continuing education to support quality-learning opportunities for adults pursuing personal and professional educational goals.

Sincerely,

Robert Wensveen,
Associate Director, Continuing Education
University of Calgary
CAUCE President 2013-2014

cc: Lorraine Carter, Director, Centre for Flexible Teaching and Learning